Post Time for Dummies
Brooklyn Paulie offers track tips for off-track betting

SEDONA, AZ, Los Abrigados Resort & Spa—Brooklyn is back! Yes, Brooklyn “Da Boss” Paulie Lo Duca returns to teach people of all experience levels the key fundamentals in “playing the ponies.”

Every Thursday, 1 – 2 p.m., in Shef’s Bar at Stakes & Sticks Sports Bar, Lo Duca offers an invaluable insight to wagering the king of sports. “It’s a fun hobby to come in here and chum around with people who have the same interests,” says Lo Duca. “It’s a magnificent sport to watch, which makes us thrilled to be the only resort in Northern Arizona to even showcase it.”

Lo Duca says he’s excited about returning to teaching the necessary skills needed to bet on the horses and adds this time he’s offering the course complimentary with purchase of any food or beverage. “When it comes to learning about a historic sport and how to wager on it, you couldn’t ask for a better atmosphere,” he says. “Come on in, kick back and relax with a bite to eat or a drink and have fun learning something. I guarantee you a good time.”
